LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 23, 1864.

The first fight in the House of Commons came off last night. It was, I regret to say, like many other battles in these degenerate days, of an indecisive character. One of the leaders was dislodged. Lord PALMERSTON was laid up with a cold and the gout. But the fight was a spirited one, notwithstanding, and showed that the country and the House is getting into a fighting humor.

The matter was this. The Germans have not only driven the Danes out of the two Duchies, all but a bit of an island, but have invaded Jutland, or Denmark proper. There was a report yesterday that the Federal General had received orders to withdraw his forces from Jutland, but there is no confirmation of that report. Last night Mr. DISRAELI made another demand for information as to the facts, and the policy of the Government. War was going on, Denmark was invaded, and there were no papers to be had, and no policy announced. Parliament was "the least informed of any public body in Europe." Every declaration of Lord PALMERSTON had been "the herald of humiliation." The policy of the Government was "a deplorable and disastrous" one. The House had been "scurvily treated." Mr. DISRAELI brought down the House, of course.

In the absence of Lord PALMERSTON Mr. GLADSTONE replied. The papers were being got ready as fast as possible, &c. Mr. OSBORNE renewed the attack, and said while their allies were being butchered and their territories invaded, the members of the British House of Commons "came sneaking into their places" and knew nothing of what was going on or what was intended, and the Government, on what seemed probably the beginning of the great European conflict, came in with a proposal to diminish the navy. He moved to postpone the consideration of the naval estimates until they had the papers on the Danish affair.

Up jumps Mr. ROEBUCK, ready for mischief. Such a motion, if carried would be a censure on the Government, and bring about a change of Ministry or a dissolution of Parliament. He was ripe and ready for either, and would support the motion.

The Government accepted this construction, and would be, I believe, only too glad of an opportunity to dissolve Parliament at this juncture. They are in a mess, and this would be the easiest way out of it.

But Mr. DISRAELI was not ready. He would not spring a decision upon the Government in this way. He wanted fair noting and a fair fight with PALMERSTON there to receive the rod he has in pickle for his Lordship. A victory without a battle would rob it of half its glory. No; the leading Conservatives are preparing for a fight. I believe they settled their plan a few nights ago at Mr. DISRAELI's dinner, or at the Speaker's on Saturday. So the division last night amounted to nothing. Better luck next time.

The Danes have beaten the Prussians or repulsed them, rather, with a loss of two or three hundred at Duppel. Of course, this amounts to nothing. Germany can swallow Denmark, unless PALMERSTON re-Means his promise, made last Summer, that she should not fight alone. And the public opinion of England may compel him to keep his promise. The Danes, meanwhile, after their ancient fashion, are busy on the sea. Their cruisers are picking up any quantity of German prizes, while an embargo has been laid on all Danish vessels in the ports of Germany. On the whole, there seems to be a very fair chance that the Powers of Europe will have enough to do here, without interfering in America. Kossuth is on the borders of Hungary. MAZZINI is busy in the affairs of Italy. The Poles, though scarcely able to struggle with their powerful Government, cannot but hope that a general war will give them a better chance for the freedom and nationality to which they aspire. But, as I have said so often, much if not all, rests with the Emperor NAPOLEON. War or peace are in his hands. England, in the present humor of her Government, will not act with him, cannot act with him, and dare not act against him. England must make her policy to that of France; in other words, accept NAPOLEON as her leader and chief, bend the knee to the heir of the man she helped to defeat at Waterloo and imprisoned at St. Helena, or she must remain as now, isolated, humiliated, ridiculed, and disgraced—caricatured in the windows of every print-shop in Europe. America, North or South, stands in a better position; for whatever else may be said, neither is afraid to fight, and whatever may be the end of the existing conflict, the people of each section must forever respect the courage, determination, and sacrifices of the other, and must be respected by all who admire these heroic qualities.

While the rambling fight was going on in the Commons, the Lords met for an hour or so, and dawdled through their business as usual. Perhaps twenty Peers were present. They generally meet at 5 o'clock and adjourn at about 6, so as not to lose their precious dinners. There was an inquiry about officers sent to America. Prussian and Austrian officers, it was said, had been sent both to the North and South. Two noble Lord whose business it was to reply, said three English officers had been sent to see about munitions, artillery and new inventions in the North, but it was not imagined that anything of that kind in the South would pay for the trouble of getting through the lines, and the hardship of living in the rebel territory. I am not troubling myself to copy the words, but this was the substance of the answer.

Then there was another question, or rather notice given that another would be asked, which was whether leave had been obtained by France from the Federal and Confederate Governments to remove tobacco from Richmond, and if so, whether any effort had been made by the British Government to get cotton by similar means, for the benefit of suffering Lancashire. There is a question now, to bother Earl RUSSELL with. Did the French get their tobacco? and if so, why have not you got your cotton, to pay the Confederate loan and set all your mills agoing? Rather a poser for Lord JOHN.

I can add an item or two to the magnificent programme of the new Emperor of Mexico, in which, as he is soon to be a near neighbor, and you may want to borrow something, ought to be of interest. When the Emperor and Empress have visited their father—father of the Empress—the King of Belgium, they will come to Windsor with him, to assist at the ceremony of the christening of the Duke of Cornwall, the young gentleman who was born the other day so unexpectedly, to our Danish Princess of Wales. King LEOPOLD, as uncle of Prince ALBERT, and cousin by marriage of the Queen of England, is an august relative in a double and twisted way of the small Dunaling, who, if he lives, will be Prince of Wales and King of England—if he lives and nothing happens to prevent—King of Great Britain and Ireland. I should have said and Defender of the faith, or of so much as the essayists and reviewers, Dr. COLENSO and Bishop COLENSO, may have left of it to defend. Her present Majesty finds it a troublesome to fulfil this part of her royal functions that she has appointed a commission to examine the Prayer-book and XXXIX Articles, and see what still remains to be defended.

Still, the very minute budling of royalty is to be made a Christian on the 10th of March, with august ceremonies, and the presence of several Kings and Queens, and one Emperor certain. Who knows if LOUIS N. may not run over and kiss the baby, and horrify Mr. ROSTOCK again, as his Imperial Majesty did when he kissed the baby's grandmother. Tastes differ; but if an Emperor kisses a Queen, and anybody is to be indignant, I do not see that it should be a mere spectator. One of the pirates hanged yesterday at Newgate, in his original fashion, wanted to kiss one of the jailors, who had been kind to him, and seemed more hurt and mortified when the English man declined the salute than he did at being hanged. He was told that Englishmen did not kiss each other—but even this explanation did not console him. Perhaps he thought they should do so. I am not of that opinion. Americans require to stay several years in England before they can make up their minds to kiss the women—let alone the men. Mr. HAWTHORNE, for example, stayed four years, and then some of the nice darlings began to look pretty to him. It's all in use. It may be that the Bushwomen and Hottentot ladies, whose effigies I saw yesterday at the Crystal Palace, might in time become attractive—only it should be a very long time.

And this reminds me that the redoubtable New-York correspondent of the London Times has devoted one of his recent letters to the alleged propagation of certain theories of amalgamation in North America. I doubt whether much can be done by theorizing on such matters. People are governed by circumstances, principles or attractions. But if Mr. MAGRAY wished to find anybody to censure in this matter, he needed not to leave the shores of his merry England. When the English had slaves of their own in London they wore brass collars like their dogs, each collar locked on collar's neck, and engraved with the name of his owner. That was not very long ago. There are slaves in HOGARTH's pictures, and in the comedies of that period. There were negro slaves in London until an English Judge ruled that they could not be legally held in bondage. That decision set them free, and the free negroes became such a nuisance in London, perhaps, on account of their treatment, that they were all sent to Sierra Leone, on the coast of Africa, where the lions may have eaten them up. Not much was ever heard of them. But when free negroes began to come to England from America, they were petted as much as their own had been abused. Negroes in London are seen in the best society, and are sought for next to the nobility. A decent negro in London, especially if an escaped slave, gets more invitations to dinners and is more lionized, than any but the most distinguished white men. The loveliest girls hang upon his arms and laugh at his jokes. You see it in the fashionable promenades, the parks, in the dress circle and private boxes at the opera, and in the saloons of the nobility. I have heard a negro ex-whitewasher from Cincinnati, speaking at a public meeting with great applause, though he was illiterate, vulgar, and anything but an orator. He spoke like a whitewashing darkey as he was, but no did not whitewash the country he came from. I think he told more lies and bigger lies in twenty minutes than any man, black or white, I ever listened to, and as his lies were all in abuse of America, and especially of New-York City and State, the bigger and worse they were, the more was he applauded.

No, Doctor of Laws, and poet of the good time that is so long a coming, you had best "dry up" on this matter of amalgamation; if the North takes to the "eternal nigger," it will only be following the fashion set for it on this side of the Atlantic.

The five pirates, as I have intimated, were hanged yesterday at Newgate. One was a Greek, the rest Malay Spaniards from Manilla. They were mere boys—the eldest only 25, and they had been, it is said, half starved on their ship, and kept on a pint of foul water a day in the tropics. There is little doubt that they were made desperate, and driven into a savage mutiny. And they are hanged. It may have been the best thing that could be done with them, though some hold it the worst. MONADNOCK.

PROCEEDINGS IN PARLIAMENT.

THE DETENTION OF THE RAMS.

In the House of Commons on the 23d, Mr. SYDNEY FITZGERALD took the Government to task for seizing the iron-clad rams belonging to Messrs. LAIRD, and asserted that it was done in contravention of the law. In moving for all the correspondence on the subject, he said he should deplore a war with America, but he would rather that the Government should go to war with her than that they should infringe the law of England in consequence of the threats of a foreign Ambassador.

The Attorney-General defended the Government and explained their legal action from first to last with respect to these rams. He claimed for the Government the merit of having acted from a desire of justice and from no other motive.

Speeches were made deprecating the course pursued by Government by Mr. HORSFALL, Lord R. CECIL, Sir E. CAYLEY and Mr. WALPOLE—and they were replied to by Mr. W. E. FORSTER, Mr. BAILLIE and the Solicitor-General—after which the House divided with the following result: For the motion, 153; against, 178; majority for Government, 25. The announcement was received with loud cheers from the Ministerial side.

THE CASE OF THE CHESAPEAKE.

In the House of Commons on Feb. 19 Mr. HALIBURTON rose to ask the Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs for information relative to the capture of a ship under the Confederate flag, by a Federal vessel of war, within the harbor of Yarmouth, in Nova Scotia, and under the guns of the fort; whether complaint had been made of this outrage to the Government of the United States, and, if so, what answer had been given thereto; and to move an address for copies of correspondence thereon.

Mr. LAYARD said the honorable member (Mr. HALIBURTON) had with great propriety abstained from making any remarks upon that part of the subject which was still under judicial inquiry. With regard to the seizure of the vessel, he had stated accurately what took place. It was well known that some agents of the Confederate States took a passage on board the Chesapeake, seized upon the captain and crew, killed one of the officers and wounded two others, and carried off the vessel. They then took refuge in a harbor of Nova Scotia. An American gunboat entered that harbor, and recaptured the vessel illegally and by force. As soon as information was received in this country of what had taken place the Government sent instructions to Lord LYONS to ask for immediate explanation and redress. He might, however, state that long before the instructions which were sent to Lord LYONS were received, Mr. SEWARD, of his own accord, having heard of the occurrence, made a communication to Lord LYONS, at first doubtful as to what the facts really were; but when the facts were ascertained Mr. SEWARD made a full apology, expressed his regret, and that part of the question terminated. Some time would elapse before the papers would be ready, and as the country would be anxious to receive information on the subject, he would read to the house Mr. SEWARD's dispatch and the answer to it from the noble Earl at the head of the Foreign Office.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9, 1864.

The undersigned, Secretary of State of the United States, has the honor to present his respects to the Right Hon. Lord LYONS, accredited to this Government as Her Majesty Plenipotentiary of her Britannic Majesty, and to state that he has submitted to the President certain papers which were placed in the hands of the undersigned by his Lordship on the 31 day of this month, and which are described as follows:—1. Memorial of SUSAN HENRY to Alderman of John E. Hoste; 2. Memorial of John E. Hoste to Alderman of John E. Hoste; 3. Provincial Secretary to Mayor of Halifax, Dec. 18, 1863; 4. Mayor of Halifax to Provincial Secretary, Dec. 19, 1863; 5. Same to same, Dec. 20, 1863; 6. City Marshal to Mayor of Halifax, Dec. 21, 1863; 6. Police Constable Ryer to City Marshal, Dec. 21, 1863. The undersigned is authorized, in the first place, to express to his Lordship his appreciation of the delicacy for the manner in which his Lordship has thus, without formal complaint, brought to the notice of this Government the fact that the commissioner and other officers of the United States steamer Ella & Annie, in their recent visit to Halifax in pursuit of pirates who had captured the American steamer Chesapeake and taken refuge within British jurisdiction, directly violated the sovereignty of Her Majesty by the assumption of power and authority in the name of the United States as will on board the said steamer Chesapeake as on board the British schooner Investigator, while within British waters, without having obtained consent thereto of the authorities of Her Majesty's Government there or elsewhere. The undersigned observes that in none of these papers is it represented that the acts of power and authority referred to were attended with circumstances of severity, rigor and insult to British subjects. The undersigned, however, thinks that it sufficiently appears from the papers that the rigor and severity alleged were not greater than were necessary to secure the persons of the prisoners, in pursuit of whom the officers complained of were engaged, and to deliver them up to the British authorities of this place. He hopes that this view of the subject may be taken by her Majesty's Government. The undersigned would reserve, in the next place, that the Chesapeake and the prisoners were promptly delivered to those authorities, in compliance with the instructions of this department. The undersigned is further authorized to assure Her Majesty's Government, in the spirit of a former communication made by the undersigned to his Lordship, relating to the claim of the Confederate privateer Sumter, that the President disapproves and regrets the act of force, power and authority which was exercised by the officers of the Ella & Annie within British waters, on the occasion mentioned, as a violation of the law of nations and of the friendly relations existing between the two countries, and as an infraction of the sovereignty of the United States and to the disadvantage of both nations.

The President has reason to believe that the proceedings thus disapproved were taken by the officers concerned under the influence of a patriotic and commendable zeal to bring to deserved punishment outlaws who had offered insult to the just power and dignity of both countries. The President, while he recognizes this circumstance as modifying the character of the transaction, and mitigating the censure to be bestowed upon it, nevertheless freely concedes that it does not constitute a justification for the violation of the sovereignty of Great Britain, which these officers have committed. He has, therefore, directed that they shall be censured for this violation, and he will take such other means as may be necessary to prevent a recurrence of the grievances complained of. Fully determined to make all the amends that are due to Great Britain in the premises, the undersigned will await the consideration of Her Majesty's Government upon the case as it has now been submitted.

The undersigned avails himself, &c., &c.,
(Signed) WM. H. SEWARD.

FOREIGN OFFICE, Feb. 3, 1864.

MY LORD: Your several dispatches of the numbers and dates specified in the margin, respecting the case of the Chesapeake, together with the papers which have been received in the Secretary of State for the Colonies from the colonial authorities in North America, have been submitted to the law officers of the Crown for their opinion on the different questions raised in them.

The greater part of those questions have reference to the administration of the law in the colonies; and I need not trouble your Lordship with the view taken of them by the law officers of the Crown.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies, to whom I have communicated the opinion of the law officers, will doubtless give full instructions to the several colonial authorities.

The readiness which Mr. SEWARD, in his first communication with your Lordship, manifested to make all proper and suitable reparation for the acts of the United States officers has rendered it unnecessary for me to dwell upon the circumstances which, under other circumstances, would have been my duty at once to instruct your Lordship to discuss with the Government of the United States, namely, the wilful and flagrant violation of her Majesty's territory by the officers of the United States cruiser Ella & Annie.

The Government of the United States having subsequently made, as reported in your Lordship's dispatch of the 12th of January, a full apology for the violation of Her Majesty's territory, committed by its officers in the case of the Chesapeake, it is only necessary for me to authorize your Lordship to state to Mr. SEWARD, that Her Majesty's Government accept that apology in the same friendly spirit in which it has been offered, and are truly glad that the matter has been settled in a manner honorable to both parties, and calculated to improve the friendly relations which Her Majesty's Government are always anxious to maintain with the Government of the United States. I am, &c., &c., (Signed) RUSSELL.

The Lord LYONS, G. C. B., &c.

He (Mr. LAYARD) trusted that the apology and the answer would prove satisfactory to the honorable member and to the country. (Hear, hear.)

THE TOBACCO AT RICHMOND.

Mr. LAYARD, in reply to Sir B. CRIPPS, stated that it was true that Her Majesty's Government, on the application of the French and Austrian Governments, had consented that those Governments should pass a quantity of tobacco through the blockade, with the approval of the American Government. The tobacco was the property of the Austrian and French Governments, and was in Richmond when the civil war broke out. Her Majesty's Government had not made a similar application for the passing of cotton for the benefit of the distressed operatives of Lancashire. The case of cotton was altogether different, as it was not held by the Government, but by private individuals.

OUR MILITARY OPERATIONS.

In the House of Lords on the 22d Earle DE GREY and RIPON, in reply to Lord STRATHEDEN, said it was not the intention of Government to send military Commissioners to report on the operations of Federal and Confederate armies; but three officers (an engineer, an artillery officer, and an army officer) had been sent to report on the iron-clads. For obvious reasons no officers had been sent to the Confederate States.

THE DARIEN QUESTION.

In the House of Commons on the 22d, Mr. DISRAELI made a sarcastic attack upon the foreign policy of the Government as regards the Danish question, and complained of the repeated absence of Lord PALMERSTON from the House, and of the delay in producing the papers in regard to Denmark.

A general debate ensued, Mr. GLADSTONE and Sir GEORGE GREY being the principal defenders of the Government. Several members expressed a strong want of confidence in the Government, and Mr. BERNAL OSBORNE moved that the consideration of the navy estimates be postponed for three weeks, in view of the unsatisfactory position of affairs.

After a debate the motion was lost by 47 against 220.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Sir J. WALSH on the 22d gave notice that he should move a resolution that in the opinion of this House, a crisis of great importance has taken place in naval warfare, and the critical state of our foreign relations, render it necessary that efforts should be made to complete our naval armaments on a scale calculated to maintain our naval supremacy.

Mr. LOCKE KING asked and obtained leave to bring in a bill for the extension of the franchise.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE FENIANS AT DUBLIN.

At an immense meeting held at the Rotunda, Dublin on the evening of the 23d of February, by The O'DONOVAN and Mr. SULLIVAN, of the Nation, to protest against the erection of a statue to Prince ALBERT in College Green, the Fenian Brotherhood stormed the platform, routed the chairman and committee, and after a desperate fight of fifteen minutes remained masters of the ground, waving a flag and flourishing a naked sword. It is alleged that some of the combatants were the American uniform. The excitement and tumult were terrific.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Official returns of the exports from Great Britain in 1863 show a total of £146,459,705, against £122,-092,204 in the year 1862.

Five of the pirates of the ship Flowing Land (two of the condemned men having previously been reprieved) were publicly executed together at Newgate on the morning of the 23d ultimo. The unusual scene attracted an immense crowd, but owing to the precaution taken in the erection of barriers, &c., no accident took place. There was no demonstration of feeling on the part of the crowd, and the affair passed off without any trouble.

The London papers of the 23d, referring to the debate in the House of Commons on the previous evening, point out that for a few minutes the country was within an ace of a ministerial crisis. There was, however, a general unwillingness to take advantage of the Government without a fair hearing. Hence the vote in their favor.

CONTINENTAL NEWS.

THE WAR IN SCHLESWIG.

A CONFERENCE PROPOSED BY ENGLAND AND ACCEPTED.

A special telegram from Berlin to the London Times says:

"England has invited the German Federation and the Powers who signed the 1852 treaty to a conference in London. No suspension of arms. Gen. MANTEUFFEL is gone to Vienna about Jutland affairs."

The Times also publishes the following dispatch:

VIENNA, Tuesday, Feb. 23.

The conference proposed by England for a settlement of the question relative to the German Duchies has been accepted by Austria and Prussia. Orders will be issued not to advance further into Jutland.

The Times, in a leader, says:

"The above news will encourage those who believe that there is a public conscience in Europe, and that a country like our own may, by honest and persistent endeavors, influence the counsels of foreign monarchies and rebuke the passions of a people without drawing the sword. We may now hope that the Danish question may be settled on a basis which will give tranquillity to the Duchies and yet preserve the unity of an ancient and dignified monarchy."

The Times alludes to the change of opinion in France on the Danish question, and asserts that the brave persistence of the Danes in superior forces has enlisted the sympathies of Frenchmen in their behalf.

The acceptance of the proposed Conference by Austria and Prussia is confirmed by the Vienna Gazette.

THE ATTACK ON DUPPEL.

A special telegram to the London Times gives the following version of the attack on Duppel:

"The Prussians at 7 A. M., on the 22d, drove in the Danish outposts and occupied the village of Duppel. They were dislodged by a cannonade from the bastions. The action lasted four hours. Two Danish regiments were engaged. Two hundred men are dead and wounded, with many officers. The Prussians left many dead and wounded on the field. The Danish army is in high spirits."

The following is the official Prussian account of the engagement:

BERLIN, Tuesday, Feb. 23.

An official dispatch, published to-day, says that at daybreak yesterday the Roder, Gaustein and Grobeel Brigades, accompanied by artillery, made a reconnoissance toward the intrenchments of Duppel, within range of the guns.

Field Marshal Von WRANGEL, the Crown Prince and Prince FREDERICK CHARLES were on the field.

Our loss was three killed and twenty wounded. We have several officers and 200 rank and file of the enemy prisoners, and have taken several flags.

A Copenhagen telegram dated Feb. 22, 9 A. M., says: "This morning at daybreak a Prussian reconnoitering party in force attacked our whole line. A regiment of our advanced guard was driven in, and the Prussians took the village of Dehnezl. Another of our regiments, supported by our forces behind the intrenchments, continued the engagement. The action terminated at noon to-day, when our forces had reoccupied their former position."

MISCELLANEOUS.

It is said that the Ambassadors of Austria and Prussia at Paris and London have given explanations tending to show that the invasion of certain districts of Jutland had been necessary for strategic purposes, and not for political combinations.

The Allies were busily engaged in demolishing the Dannewerke at Schleswig.

A Hamburg telegram of the 21st announces that the Prussians had evacuated Jutland, but the following, from the official Staatsanzeiger of Berlin, shows that the alleged retreat from Jutland is not correct. It says: "After the retreat of the Danes from Wonsild Gen. MUTIUS ordered the advanced guards of the Prussian cavalry to ascertain whether Kolding had also been evacuated, and to reconnitre the west and west on the Schleswig territory. A hussar patrol, and RAMMINGEN, with the Danish cavalry, advanced during the engagement to the rear of Kolding. Gen. MUTIUS subsequently received orders to keep possession of Kolding, but not to advance beyond that point."

A Copenhagen telegram announces that a blockade would be declared by Denmark of all ports on the eastern coast of Holstein and Schleswig, except Neustaat, from the 25th February.

A Flensburg dispatch stated that on the 17th of February the German Civil Commissioners issued a decree abrogating the Constitution of the 18th November, and another on the 19th inst., annulling the royal Danish rescript relative to the use of the Danish language.

The Danish frigate Niels Juel continued to cruise in the English Channel in search of German vessels.

A subscription in aid of the Danes had been set on foot in England.

The London Morning Post of the 23d says there is no truth in the statement that the Austrian and Prussian forces are about to attack Copenhagen. Austrian cruisers are only to be dispatched to the Adriatic, Mediterranean and the English Channel, for the protection of German commerce.

The London Times is most decisive in its views against England alone aiding Denmark, and bitter toward those Powers who have refused their co-operation.

"A single word," it says, "from France, Russia and Sweden would have prevented the invasion of the Duchies; but the ties of gratitude for all services do not bind France; a common nationality and a common danger cannot move Sweden; treaties and alliances are alike lost upon Russia. These Powers will neither do anything now nor tell us what they intend to do hereafter. It is in their hand that England is isolated, meanwhile the Danish monarchy itself seems to be threatened. Nothing would be easier than to send the Channel Fleet to the Baltic. But it is not by sea that the fate of Denmark will be decided, and our small land force could not permanently influence the decision of a war carried on by 40,000 to 50,000 men against States which could, if necessary, place ten times that number in the field; and calm reason steps in to remind us that it is no part of our duty to redress all the injustice which is committed under the sun."

A dispatch from Wurzburg of the 22d, says: "The conference of ministers of the minor German States, held in this city, has agreed to the proposition of Saxony, that the Federal Diet should instruct their attitude in the event of the great German Powers endeavoring to withdraw forcibly from the Federal Diet the right of disposing of Holstein.

It was also resolved not to sanction any convention affecting the rights of the Duchies, and that the Federal Diet alone has to decide on the sequestered question.

The Vienna correspondent of the Times says that the Prussian Government is about to make a demonstration against Saxony, by placing a corps d'armée in one of the Prussian provinces which, previous to 1815, belonged to Saxony.

FRANCE.

RUMORS OF FRENCH RECOGNITION.

The London Morning Post of the 24th, in its city article, says the reports from Paris are still more positive than before, that confidential negotiations have been entered upon by the French Government, with the Cabinet of St. James, for the joint recognition of the Confederate States; and it is stated that France will act alone in case of a negative reply from England. The City Editor of the Post declines to vouch for these reports.

THE MEXICAN THRONE.

The Paris Memorial Diplomatique says the Archduke MAXIMILIAN and the Archduchess would arrive in a few days at Brussels to take leave of King LEOPOLD; and previous to their departure for Mexico they will pay visits to the Tuileries and to Windsor. Immediately afterward they will return to Vienna. On the arrival of the Mexican deputation the accession of MAXIMILIAN to the Imperial throne of Mexico will be proclaimed. Before leaving Europe the Mexican Majesties will visit Rome to seek the Pontifical blessing on their mission.

The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post says all the Mexican Minister's financial plans are matured. They include a loan for twenty millions sterling, five per cent. stock, and the settlement of the overdue coupons of the English-Mexican debt on satisfactory terms.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Paris letter asserts that the cordiality of the entente between FRANCE and England is no longer a matter of doubt. It is understood that the Emperor of the French agrees to cooperate with England whenever she will act; and to retain his liberty of action or of cooperation when England confines her action to diplomatic notes.

The Bourse was firmer on the 23d, and Rentes slightly improved—closing at 69.55.

SPAIN.

The British steamer Princess, which touched at Malaga to take in coal, had been seized by the authorities of that port. It was discovered that she carried in her hold some rifled cannon, muskets, ammunition and other warlike effects. The vessel was detained on account of her destination being unknown.

GERMANY.

It is stated that a treaty has been signed between Prussia and Oldenburg, giving to the former Power an extension of territory on the Jahade.

POLAND.

It is stated that three Russian infantry companies, who marched against the insurgents under DROUSZOWSKY, had been utterly routed at Kurzwo, in the Government of Radow. Only 60 Russians escaped.

THE SITUATION IN FLORIDA.

Our Forces Securely Intrenched Near Jacksonville.

HEAVY REINFORCEMENTS SENT TO THEM.

Enormous Losses of the Rebels at Olustee.

FURTHER LIST OF UNION CASUALTIES.

The United States transport Arago, HENRY A. GARDNER, commanding, from Hilton Head, S. C., at 10 A. M., and Charleston Bar 5 P. M., Friday, March 4, with mails from Port Royal and S. A. Blockading Fleet, consigned to Maj. SCHUYLER VAN VLIET, Quartermaster U. S. A., arrived here at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Arago brings a large number of veteran troops (reinlisted) on furlough, from the following regiments, viz.: Forty-seventh New-York Volunteers, Fifty-fourth New-York Volunteers, One Hundred and Fifteenth New-York, Eighth Maine, Third Rhode Island Battery, and Eighty-fifth Pennsylvania Volunteers; also fifty-four Confederate deserters.

Amongst the cabin passengers are some twenty officers wounded in the late engagements in Florida. Total number of passengers 150 first, and 200 second class.

There is nothing new from Charleston. The bombardment is still continued with good effect. The rebels replied at intervals, but rarely doing injury.

The supply steamer Bermuda is reported to have captured a rebel privateer in sight of Fort Pickens, after an excellent chase. The rebels had just put a prize crew aboard a captured trading vessel, which was not retaken.

All was quiet at Jacksonville on the 26. Reinforcements were rapidly arriving, and Gen. SEYMOUR's position was sufficiently defensible at least any attack. Our troops are outside the town—some of them at a distance of eight miles. The fortifications in front of Jacksonville are of an extensive character. Flags of truce have communicated with the rebels for the purpose of endeavoring to obtain our wounded, who fell into their hands. The request was refused. The main body of the enemy is encamped between Ten Mile Run and Baldwin, with a considerable force at Ten Mile Run. The rebels admit their loss

FROM ALBANY.

The National Credit—Grand Union—The Powers' Relief Association.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Monday, March 7.

A proposition, involving the question of national credit, was brought up in the Senate this morning, and gave occasion for an interesting debate. Senator Bell offered a resolution that all State stocks of this State were to be issued so as to be made negotiable and payable in this State, there shall be no difference made in paying principle and interest of such debts, between domestic and foreign holders. Senator Smith moved to amend by adding that the same shall be paid in coin. This proposed amendment was lost. Senator Folger then offered an amendment providing that the interest accruing upon so much of the State debt as on the first day of March, 1863, was held by persons residing out of the United States, and is still held by persons residing out of the United States, shall be paid in gold or its equivalent. Senator Folger sustained this proposition by urging that political and financial convulsions in any country could not be held to affect the international market so as to divert that country. The general market of the world was in a higher and calmer sphere than to be instantaneously affected, as to its estimate of values, by every merely local convulsion. Strict integrity on the part of the State required that the measure which he had proposed substantially, should be adopted. Senator Cook opposes the amendment, on the ground that the foreign holder when purchasing State bonds knew upon what they were based, and took the risks of depreciation of currency, &c., as a part of the bargain. If the proposition were considered one to be entertained at all, it should go further back, to the date of the fall of Fort Sumter. The recognition of the principle involved should also be extended so as to include the payment of the maintenance debt of the State, as well as the payment on foreign obligations, and after the payment in both cases. Senator Emerson said that there was a very important difference between the holder of a mortgage here at home and the bond resting in a foreign country, to whom the State owes a debt. The first may receive payment in greenbacks, because he can use them at home; which the other cannot do in his own country. Senator Ammerman was not prepared to repudiate to any extent State obligations. He held that the depreciation of our currency should not affect obligations to foreigners. They could not see grounds to pay debts or for investments.

The question involved in the above discussion was deemed too important to be hastily considered, and at the suggestion of several Senators further discussion of it was postponed, and the amendment was made the special order for to-morrow next.

One of the schemes of a general character, devised for the settlement of canal claims, was proposed in the Assembly this morning. The enactment clause was stricken out of the bill constituting the Canal Appraisers a Board to hear such claims. It has all along been urged against the bill that its passage would revive a vast number of claims that have failed to gain a recognition from the Legislature. Many have expressed the opinion that its passage would cost the State at least half a million of dollars, and the House, by a large majority, voted to kill the bill.

A good deal of time was spent in considering in the Assembly the bill providing for the incorporation of the Fraternal Relief Association of New-York. The bill was finally ordered to third reading, but not until the various provisions had been considered at length in Committee of the Whole. Some members were doubtful that there was in its intelligent design, and an insertion is desired by the public. The members from New-York, however, had, in the opinion of the House, the best of the argument, for respectability had been given to scrutinize the bill, and not all that could be said against it. An emphatic vote was given in its favor.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Bill for the completion of the Battery extension.

Mr. Folger introduced a bill for the better regulation of Manhattanville cemetery.

The bill relating to the Trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New-York, was read and passed.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Penn called up the concurrent resolutions against making any distinction as to the currency in which the interest and principal shall be paid to foreigners and foreign holders of State bonds.

Mr. Cook moved to amend, that both classes be paid in gold. Lost—9 to 17.

Mr. Folger moved to amend, to pay gold only on such State stock as was held by foreigners prior to March 1, 1863.

Several votes passed, in which Messrs. Bell, Harris and Cook opposed, and Messrs. Folger, Smith and Ammerman in favor of the amendment, when the resolution was made the special order for Wednesday.

On motion of Mr. Penn, the Senate adopted a resolution requesting the Assembly to return the Lockport Spring Railroad bill, certain Senators apprehending that its provisions cover the Harlem Railroad Broadway grant.

The bill enabling husband and wife to act as witnesses for and against each other, was debated at length and ordered to a third reading.

CARROLL, by a majority of 1,130, against a majority last year of 886 for the same candidate, being a Union gain of 2016. The vote stands, BOLESLAN, 1,941; CARROLL, 811; Scattering, 6. Last year the vote stood, BOLESLAN, 2,329; CARROLL, 1,443; Scattering 14.

All the wards have gone Union, electing every Alderman, Councilman and subordinate officer.

From Mobile.

St. Louis, Monday, March 7.

Capt. HOPKINS, well known here before the outbreak of the rebellion, arrived on Saturday from Mobile, 10th ult. He says there were but 4,000 troops in Mobile, and, though the fortifications in front of the city were good, they could be carried by a large force. Gen. SHERMAN'S movement frightened the people terribly; but a desperate resistance would have been made had he attacked the city. Every male there between 16 and 50 years, was a well-drilled soldier.

There is no distress in the South, but the people are willing to accept peace on almost any terms. The leaders, however, are determined to fight to the last.

All the gunboats in Mobile Bay now are iron-clad, and have been for the past twelvemonth.

Hood, Polk and Lovell, were at Columbus, Miss., when Capt. Price left for Mobile, but were soon to go to Atlanta, to be in command of his Mississippians in Johnston's army.

The Rebellious Breaking Up.

CINCINNATI, Monday, March 7.

The Gazette (of last Saturday) says: part of her farm, goods and negroes stock, part of her cloth in quantity of goods, and some bullion have come ashore.

EXPLORATIVE BLEEDING.—WHEN MEDICAL men find a man very sick, but cannot tell what the matter is, they bleed the patient, and by that means proceed to ascertain whence the seat of the disease is. Why not practice explorative perspiration instead? It is very difficult to recover from the effects of loss of blood, but from the effect of doses of Brandreth's pills most decisive cures of life and health. If Brandreth's pills have benefited five hundred persons and injured none, then it is five hundred to one that they will produce good results. So, instead of explorative bleeding, use those medicines which not only explores and cleanses the inmost recesses of the body, but finds out and removes the disease.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 620 SIXTH-AV., NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was relieved by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in thinking me he deserves that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

READ!

I Have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were constantly obstructed with a pouring fluid. That frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, often attended with a fullness of my throat, great soreness, and a continual dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I may, indeed, say that I feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is an skillful as it is successful. It is with my opinion impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured.

HARLEM, July 20, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. Von EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. Hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a dangerous discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

Consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in him present where I lived on. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his medical treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior; but the principles which direct his modes of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

NEW-YORK, July 20, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total case of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. His wife grateful thanks that I give this testimony in his skill.

A. T.—1860.—T.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa and Chronic Mortus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, cascarilla, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of imposters. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private United States stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a blue steel plate label. See that the whole bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon, or in bulk, is an imposter. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the United States law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties refilling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.
